

Here is a picture story of the tragedy of Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, from its beginning to its end.

1—Albert Snyder, magazine art editor, liked to stay home evenings. Ruth, his wife, liked bright lights, music, dancing, crowds. She suffered boredom, while Snyder continued placidly unaware of it.

2—Ruth's boredom drove her to seek friends outside their own circle. In a New York restaurant she met Henry Judd Gray, corset salesman. It was a "pick-up" meeting; the two became fascinated by one another, and soon were intimate.

3—Gray, like Snyder, had led an uneventful life. He lived in a suburban home with his wife and daughter, and though his job required him to travel a good deal he never was known to go out with other women.

4—Ruth Snyder fascinated him, however. It was not long before the two began making trips together over week-ends, usually going by automobile. For a year and a half they continued this. Neither Albert Snyder nor Mrs. Gray, apparently, ever suspected the truth.

5—Caught in the coils of their mutual infatuation, the two plotted Snyder's death. Gray concealed himself in the Snyder home one night. Mrs. Snyder supplied her husband with liquor; then, when he was asleep, she and Gray crept into his bedroom and killed him with a sash weight and a loop of picture wire.

6—The police quickly broke down Mrs. Snyder's story and the two were arrested. Each testified at the trial, and each blamed the other. Mrs. Snyder's claim that Gray killed Snyder over her protests was not believed by the jury.

7—The courts refused to grant their pleas for a new trial. Each slayer was adjudged sane. Gov. Al Smith heard their final plea for clemency, which was based on the ground that, while sane, they had been rendered irresponsible by their made infatuation for each other.

8—Then came the last act—electrocution in the death house at Sing Sing under Governor Smith denied their pleas.

RUTH AND HER PARAMOUR DIE IN SING SING

Path of Illicit Love Ended in Electric Chair in Prison

BULLETIN.
New York, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The body of Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, illicit lovers, was brought today from Sing Sing prison and placed in a receiving vault at Woodlawn Cemetery.

The body was accompanied by an undertaker and Mrs. Snyder's brother Andrew Brown. It will remain in the vault pending final disposition.

Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, illicit lovers, died in the electric chair of Sing Sing prison seven minutes apart last night.

They were executed for the murder of her husband, Albert Snyder, magazine art editor, who was beaten to death while asleep in his home at Queens Village, Long Island, March 20 last.

Mrs. Snyder was pronounced dead at 11:09 o'clock and Gray at 11:15.

Woman Was Composed
Suggestions freely made that Mrs. Snyder would collapse at the end were not borne out. She walked to the death-dealing chair and seated herself.

Clue to Missing Man in Waterloo
Rockford.—Chief of Police A. E. Bargen Thursday received a letter from a woman living in Waterloo, Ia., stating that she thought that Albert Kees, age 35, motor accessory salesman who disappeared on Dec. 21 while enroute from Fort Wayne, Ind., to Waterloo, Ia., might possibly be a 35 year old man now being held at Indianapolis, Ia.

The man held at Indianapolis was said to be suffering from a mental lapse of some kind and is unable to give his name, address or the name of any relative.

The writer of the letter did not give any basis for her belief that the man is Kees.

TALK OF 'BIG' MONEY GIVEN BY VENIREMAN

Prosecutor Made Allegation at Opening of Court Today

Ottawa, Ill., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Scandal entered the Harry Hill murder trial today when R. O. Hanson, State's Attorney, obtained the dismissal of the eleven men left in the third special venire upon the allegation one of them had remarked to the others that "money, probably $1,000 or $2,000" was in sight for jury service satisfactory to the defense.

The venireman accused was Carl Kratz of Peru, formerly of Chicago, a salesman now unemployed.

Charge a Bombshell

Prosecutor Hanson dropped his bombshell immediately after roll call of the fourth special venire of fifty men had been completed. He demanded that they be sent from the courtroom while he took up an important matter with Judge Joe A. Davis.

Hanson informed the court that after adjournment yesterday Arthur Barrett of Ottawa, a venireman, came to him with a statement that Kratz had made objectionable remarks while waiting in an ante-room with ten other prospective jurors.

The story was substantiated, Hanson said, by statements of Charles Bowermaster, another venireman.

"This is a good case to be in on," was a remark attributed to Kratz. "There is money in sight, probably $1,000 or $2,000. I don't believe the boy is guilty anyway."

Kratz, under interrogation in the jury box, swore that he had not formed or expressed an opinion as to Hill's guilt in facing the charge that he shot and killed his mother and buried her body in the basement of their home.

"ALKY" PEDDLERS SOUGHT IN DEATH OF WOMAN IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Police turned to the haunts of "alky" peddlers today to solve the murder of the woman known as Mrs. Betty Chambers.

A maid found her body late yesterday in the Chambers apartment, resting beneath a silken coverlet and supported by brightly colored, blood-stained pillows. She was clad only in pajamas.

Death could have come to the 28-year-old woman by anyone or all of three ways. Adhesive tape had been wound around her head, covering mouth and nose. She had been struck with a blunt instrument, evidenced from the scar on the back of her neck. A tightly drawn electric light cord was fastened about

LUCKIEST DAY--FRIDAY, 13th

DAY IS BOUND CLOSELY WITH HISTORY OF U. S.

History Proves Day Good One of Life of the Nation

By NEA Service
Don't feel that you ought to stay indoors and keep your fingers crossed just because today happens to be Friday the 13th.

According to the superstitious lore of the ages Friday the 13th may be fraught with evil omens—but America at least, ought to regard the day as the luckiest on the calendar.

Friday and the number 13, either together or separately, have played a large and beneficent part in American history, and anyone who thinks they are unlucky will have to take a second guess.

Pershing's Birthday

To begin with, it's supposed to be the height of ill luck to be born on Friday the 13th. Yet Gen. John J. Pershing, war-time commander of the A. E. F., was born on such a date, and it must be admitted that he has risen pretty high for a man whose life began under an unfavorable star. The exact date of his birth was Sept. 13, 1860.

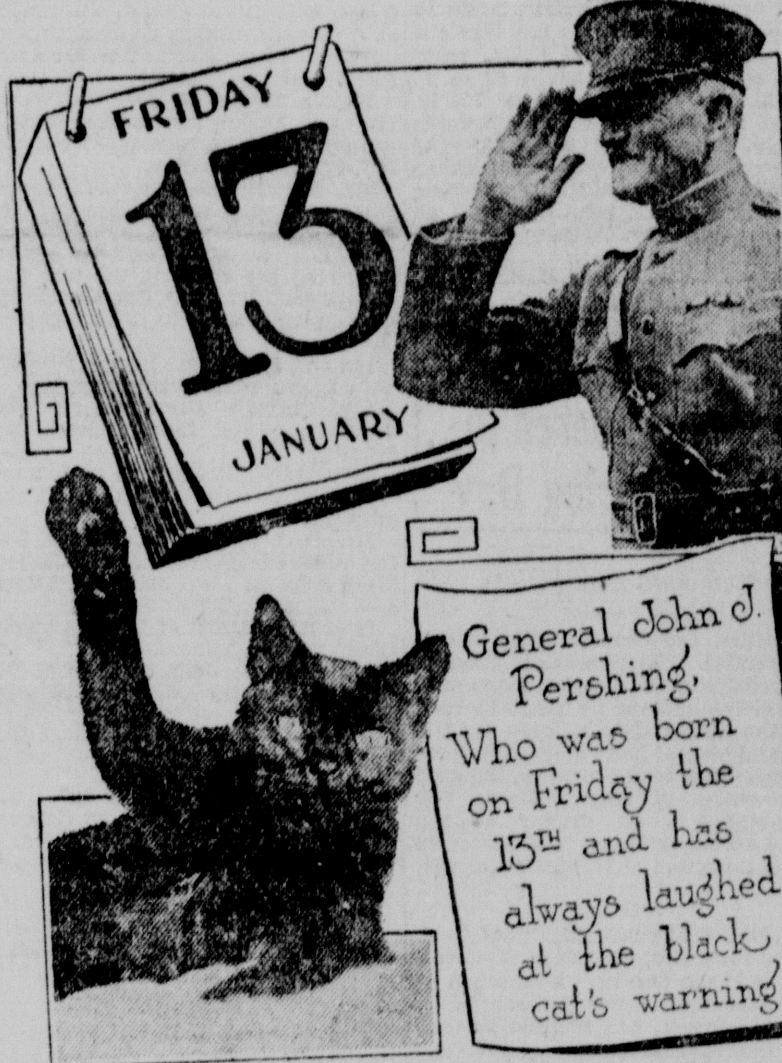

Then, as everybody knows, there are 13 stripes in the American flag. Originally, when the flag was most in need of fortune's smiles, there were 13 stars also. And, of course, there were 13 colonies at the time of the Revolution.

If 13 were an unlucky number for America, George III ought to have won that war in no time. But the combination proved so lucky for America—whose revolutionary commander customarily signed his name Geo. Washington, in which there are exactly 13 letters—that on June 13, 1776, the kingdom of France decided to come to the new country's aid, and thus made certain the success of the war for independence.

An American Scheme
You might notice that there are 13 letters in "revolutionary," too.

As if they were aware of these things, the fathers of the Republic then proceeded to work 13 into the American scheme very effectively.

THREE CARS ARE TAKEN HERE BUT ARE RECOVERED

Same Vandal Believed to Have Stolen All of the Machines

Three automobiles were reported to the police department as having been stolen between the hours of 10 o'clock last night and 2 o'clock this morning in the downtown district and all were recovered within a short time.

Two of the machines were damaged, however, in collisions and all three were abandoned within a few blocks from where they were taken.

Some vandal, who police believe had been drinking, is thought to have taken the cars. Joseph Horn of this city was the first to report his Ford sedan being taken from the corner of Peoria avenue and First street where he had parked it. This car was reported stolen at 10 o'clock and within a very few minutes Officer Pomeroy was called to Third street and Galena where the car had been abandoned after crashing into another machine. The occupant had jumped out of the car and ran away it was reported.

Found Abandoned.
At 10:20 James Bales reported to the police that his Buick sedan had been taken from Second street just west of Hennepin avenue, where he had left it parked, headed west.

Chief Van Bibber was calling police departments of surrounding cities in (Continued on page 2)

Mrs. S. Alpetier of Peoria, Ill., who is visiting with her daughter and son-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. A. G. Suechting, was happily surprised at their home Thursday afternoon when about thirty ladies of the Immanuel Lutheran church, of which Rev. Suechting is pastor, arrived to celebrate her sixty-second birthday.

The afternoon was pleasantly spent in playing games and in music.

Light refreshments were served and enjoyed. The guests all wished Mrs. Alpetier many such happy returns of her birthday and presented her with a beautiful cyclamen plant. She is returning to her home in Peoria the latter part of the week. Those present to enjoy the afternoon included: Mrs. Charles Zopf, Mrs. Carl Sorbe, Mrs. Otto Witzleb, Mrs. A. Wedekind, Mrs. Will Blum, Mrs. W. C. Martin, Mrs. Henry Rischback, Mrs. Charles Krug, Mrs. George Aschenbrenner, Mrs. J. E. Salzman, Mrs. Henry Jacobs, Emily Litt, Mrs. A. Killmer, Mrs. Aug. Krug, Mrs. Fred Gonnerman.

MENU for the FAMILY

BY SISTER MARY
BREAKFAST—Winter pears, cereal, cream, bacon in tomato sauce, crisp toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Casserole of vegetables, raised corn bread, nutted prunes, pudding, milk, tea.

DINNER—Roast beef, browned potatoes, brown gravy, creamed turnips, endive and grape fruit salad, potato caramel cake, canned fruit, milk, coffee.

Bacon in Tomato Sauce

Eight or ten slices of bacon, 1 onion, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 1-2 teaspoon pepper. Broil bacon in hot frying pan. Reserve 2 tablespoons bacon fat, draining off the rest. Mince onion and cook over a low fire, in the bacon fat until soft. Stir in flour and add tomatoes rubbed through a coarse sieve to remove seeds. Cook, stirring constantly, until thick and smooth. Season with pepper and pour over bacon arranged on a hot platter.

Four tablespoons grated cheese can be sprinkled over the top and the dish slipped under the broiler long enough to melt the cheese just before sending to the table.

Annual Guest Night Enjoyed

Guest night, anticipated with much pleasure by the members of the Ideal club and their husbands, was observed on Wednesday evening at the charming home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fulton on North Galena avenue.

There were twenty-four guests present, members and their husbands and all spent a most delightful evening, enjoying first the delicious dinner served at the elegantly appointed tables, one large table and three small ones. The Fulton home was beautifully decorated for the occasion, pink and green being the predominating colors, pink and green candles illuminating the dinner tables, and bouquets of lovely pink blossoms and ferns gracing the tables and also the rooms throughout the home. L. W. Miller in behalf of the men, expressed the appreciation of the husbands present and he concluded his delightful address with a toast to the ladies.

After the dinner music and games provided amusement in a very pleasant evening, at the conclusion of which the guests departed for their homes, thanking the host and hostess for their gracious hospitality. Much credit is attributed to Mrs. Lester Street, chairman of the committee, and the other members, Mrs. O. F. Goeke and Mrs. Robert Fulton.

Unity Guild Had Pleasant Meeting

The members of the Unity Guild held a very pleasant all day meeting with Mrs. Charles Herriek, 810 Second street, yesterday. The picnic dinner at noon was much enjoyed, and after dinner a short business session was held at which the president, Mrs. Burnham, presided. Afterward the members listened to a most interesting talk on Washington, D. C., and the trip to that wonderful city, by Mrs. Will Hill. At the conclusion of the happy meeting all thanked Mrs. Herriek for her delightful hospitality.

W. R. C. Installation Beautiful Ceremony

Dixon Relief Corps No. 218, Auxiliary to the G. A. R., installed its officers for 1928 in a beautiful patriotic ceremony last evening at G. A. R. hall. The meeting was called to order by the president, Moderena Jones, Nellie Eastman, Past Department President and installing officer was escorted in by the color guards. Maud Hobbs, secretary, then read a report of the work accomplished and of the financial standing of the Corps for the year, showing the charitable work amounting to $600. Moderena Jones presented the corps a picture of Mrs. Dorothy N. Law, the organizer and first president of Dixon Woman's Relief Corps together with Past President's Jewel. It was neatly framed and was hung on the wall to her memory for which we feel very much indebted to her son James Law. The gavel was then turned over to Nellie Eastman. She appointed the following ladies to act for the evening: Nellie Bales, Installing Conductor; Maria Stackpole, Installing Chaplain and the following ladies as Color Bearers for the evening: Frances Dautler, Alice Bennett, Lena Lund, Ethel Newcomb and Allan Read as Installing Musicians.

The following ladies were installed into their respective offices:

President—Lottie Horton.

Senior Vice President—Maud Hobbs.

Junior Vice President—Christena Mall.

Treasurer—Albertine McKinney.

Secretary—Eva Richardson.

Chaplain—Emma Brooks.

Conductor—Ethel Watson.

Assistant Conductor—Meta Wilhelm.

Press Correspondent—Gertrude Carpenter.

Musicians—Carrie Decker.

Guard—Evelyn Marcroft.

Assistant Guard—Florence Onnen.

Color Bearers:

No. 1—Mae Abbott.

No. 2—Trma Miller.

No. 3—Jessie Brandt.

No. 4—Ida Rice.

Lottie Horton, newly elected President, presented Nellie Eastman, Nellie Bales and Allan Read each with a gift, a token of appreciation for their services. Maud Hobbs, in behalf of the officers of 1927 presented Moderena Jones, retiring president with a beautiful silver tray. Eva Richardson with a few well chosen words presented Moderena Jones with the Past President's Jewel to which she responded assuring the members it was greatly appreciated.

The following program was given.

Mrs. Ralph Stiles favoring us with a vocal solo, responding to several encores. Mrs. J. E. Reagan gave several readings which were greatly enjoyed by all and two delightful solos by Allan Read.

A social hour was then enjoyed and light refreshments were served.

The 1927 officers were congratulated on such a successful year and the 1928 officers have a good outlook for another memorable year.

Mrs. Trein Hostess At Charming Event

Mrs. W. E. Trein was hostess to an "at home" yesterday afternoon and very delightfully entertained a large number of guests both from Dixon and from Sterling, about forty attending from the latter town. Mrs. Trein's native city. Those assisting in pouring were Mrs. Paul Dillon, Mrs. C. G. Beard, Mrs. Fred Schmoege, Miss Lela Wolfersperger, Miss Crete Dillon of Sterling; and Mrs. J. Frank Eshleman of Lancaster, Pa. Pink roses and sweet peas in the same shade were the fragrant decorations for the charming affair, one of the most enjoyable of the winter.

D. A. R. Gives Chair To Continental Hall; Honors Dorothy Law

The Daughters of the American Revolution met at the home of Mrs. W. W. Rhodes on East Second street Saturday. As it was guest day there were four assisting hostesses, Mrs. Willard Thompson, Mrs. W. C. McWethy, Mrs. A. C. Pitcher and Miss Rosalie Eckert.

The Chapter was well represented, and as many brought guests, there was a large number present. In the report of the secretary, she spoke of the second chair that has been given by the chapter to Continental Hall at Washington, D. C., in honor of Mrs. Dorothy Law, who organized the Chapter in 1888, and for the love and respect the Chapter had for her, and for the many things Mrs. Law did to advance the work of the Chapter. Mrs. Wilson Dyckart, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Davies, sang a solo, and responded to an encore. They were very quaint solos and beautifully rendered.

The Chapter was given a treat in a talk by Mrs. C. T. Marsh of Rockford on Historic Spots in Illinois. She spoke of the Trail and Highway and the monument that has been erected by the D. A. R. in honor of the earlier settlers and of the bravery shown by them in their battles with the Indians, and of the Historic Mounds, especially around Rockford. She had a map of Illinois in 1823. There were a few counties laid out in southern Illinois, but the northern part was one big county. She spoke of the beauties of Rock River, and of the earlier name, Sinissippi, and was sorry the name had ever been changed, although Rock is a more appropriate name for the river because of its rocky bed. She had a early history of Illinois for which she had been offered $100 on account of its valuable information.

The Chapter has been very much favored by the talks given them in the early history of Illinois at their last two meetings. And all are proud they live in Illinois and on the banks of Rock River. A social hour was enjoyed and tempting refreshments were served by the hostesses. The Chapter adjourned to meet with Mrs. A. G. Burnham and Miss Burnham, Feb. 4.

Gonnerman-Hoover Wedding Celebrated

On Saturday evening, January 7th, at 7 o'clock, at the Lutheran parsonage in Ashton, Rev. F. W. Henke performed the ceremony which united in marriage the lives of Cornelius Gonnerman, son of John Gonnerman, of Ashton, and Miss Irene Hazel Hoover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Hoover, of Franklin Grove. The bride and groom were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Landau, of Lee Center.

Mrs. Landau is a sister of the bride. The bride was beautifully attired in black satin crepe, with accessories harmonizing.

Following the ceremony the young couple left on a wedding trip to Michigan where they will visit relatives.

tives of the groom's. They will also visit in Chicago.

The bride is a young lady of charm and both she and her husband are popular in a large circle of friends. She is a graduate of the Franklin Grove high school of the class of 1927. The bridegroom is well known in the community in which he lives, having been engaged with his father in farming. On their return they will be at home on the groom's father's farm south of Ashton. Friends are congratulating, and offering best wishes for a happy married life.

Toastmasters Club To Entertain Ladies

The wives and lady friends of the Toastmasters will be entertained at the Y. M. C. A. building next Thursday evening, when the mid-winter ladies' night will be observed. Preparations of unusual nature are being made, and a most enjoyable program is looked for. At the meeting last evening the program consisted of a splendid lecture on our hospital by Dr. K. B. Segner, a lecture on the use of our normal faculties by Dr. George McGraham, singing of some new songs under the direction of J. C. Koller, and an amusing parliamentary drill with E. C. Kennedy in the chair.

The attendance at the Toastmasters' Club is above the average of other years, and a most successful season is being enjoyed.

Prairieville Social Circle Meeting

The Ladies Social Circle of Prairieville, with the husbands as guests, met in an all day meeting Wednesday, Jan. 11, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lenox. At noon a delicious scramble dinner was served, the long table beautifully decorated with red rose buds. Twenty-four members responded to roll call, fifteen guests and seven children. As this was "election day" the following members were re-elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Albion Seavey; Vice President, Mrs. Jesse Sivits; Sec. Miss Bess Seavey; and Treasurer, Mrs. Harry Freidricks.

Mrs. George LeFever deserves special mention having been present at every meeting in 1927. The beautiful day was surely enjoyed by all present and after a few hours of social chat the meeting was closed, to meet in two weeks, Jan. 25 with Mrs. Fred Gilbert.

MEETING THE YEARS GRACEFULLY

By Olive Roberts Barton

Geraldine Farrar has made her second great debut, greater even than her first. When she made her premier at the "Met", as the Metropolitan Opera House was affectionately known to its darlings, she merely conquered the world.

Now, gray-haired, charming, gracious, it would appear that she has made a greater conquest still.

Recently she appeared in Carnegie Music Hall in New York to sing to her first audience there for several years. In no time at all the hall had sold itself out. The public was curious to see what kind of Farrar had come back.

The new Farrar, as one review has it, "was subdued and dignified. Her methods were in all ways softer, more delicate, than those five years back. But still it was the old Farrar winning by sheer charm of personality an audience that was on its feet to greet her, to rush to the front when the program was done, to give thunderous ovations after each number."

It also added, "there was not one inartistic bid for popular favor."

It was the last sentence that caught my eye. Not one inartistic bid for popular favor! A sermon to the middle-aged who forget that rouse and hair-dye are the most inartistic things in the world, deceive no one and will not bring back youth.

What is lovelier than a woman who knows how to meet the years gracefully—whose charm is not ruined by the unhappy thought that youth has gone! Her graciousness and acceptance have a charm that even youth could not give her.

GOOD WILL CRUISES.

Out here in the west good will cruises to Caribbean ports were invented before Lindbergh was sent out as a good will messenger through Central America. The Illinois Chamber of Commerce conceived the idea of a trip by sea and Lindbergh went by air. So successful was the venture of the Illinois business men that a second trip has been planned for this winter.

Commenting upon the leadership of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, the Chicago Daily News says:

"So much benefit in the form of a better understanding with our Latin-American neighbors has come in a brief time from the good will activities of Ambassador Morrow and this country's incomparable unofficial ambassador, Colonel Lindbergh, that many Americans are asking: 'Why was not this sort of thing done before?'"

"Well, it has been done before."

"Take, for example, the good will tour last winter of many members of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, who visited Cuba, Costa Rica, Colombia and other southern countries fronting upon the Caribbean. It was so complete a success that it is to be repeated a few weeks hence by a shipload of representatives of that wide-awake organization."

"Such visits when made by progressive business men are of even greater significance than are official visits, though naturally they result in no such general acclaim. For plain, practical Americans, who go to the southern republics to get acquainted, learn what trade opportunities exist there and how best to take advantage of those opportunities, are preparing the way for the establishment of permanent relations based on benefits systematically exchanged."

"President Coolidge's impending trip to Havana to meet and address the delegates to the Pan-American congress ought to cause his fellow countrymen generally to realize that acquaintance is the first need in establishing good relations with the people of other countries and other speech. The recent quickening of American trade with the Latin republics that cluster about the Caribbean affords indubitable proof that dwellers in those countries like American goods and American traders when they come to know them."

THE ETERNAL APPEAL.

We are told that religion has lost its appeal. People mournfully point out that more persons remain outside the churches than go into them. The empty pews are the theme of many a mournful disquisition.

And yet something occurred the other day that showed this apparent indifference to religion is all surface stuff. The British Parliament was discussing a revised prayer book for the Established Church of England.

The mob of people who sought admission to attend the debates broke all recent precedents. The speeches made in the House of Lords and in the House of Commons broke all records for eloquence, for intensioness, for earnestness, for ability.

All party lines were smashed. All class lines were forgotten. Bishops aristocrats and workmen on one side opposed bishops, aristocrats and workmen on the other. The result of the voting was awaited with a tenseness that is hard to realize or to picture. Not in recent years has parliamentary action been so keenly watched by a whole nation.

It was a derouting thing for the pessimists. It showed once for all that religion still comes close to the hearts and minds of men. The lessons learned at the mother's knee have not been forgotten. They are still cherished. They have still a place in the innermost being. They still regin in the core of us.

War and Mammon and the great deity, Play, and that other deity, Sport, are all right in this ordinary workaday world, but in the silent, thoughtful hours there is one supreme thing which counts supremely—communion with God.

Texas Guinan, New York night club hostess, has opened another place. It's called a shoe store, but you want to be well heeled when you go there.

Lindbergh said he couldn't understand why more Americans didn't visit Mexico. Maybe their politics has something to do with it.

Life is so paradoxical. A lot of people keep their noses to the grindstone all the time trying to hold their heads up.

You can't always tell. Just because a man is using flowery language is no sign he is handing out bouquets.

Maybe there is room at the top. But look what you generally have to climb over to get there.

Dictionary. A book to which you refer after an argument over how to spell a word to find out you were wrong

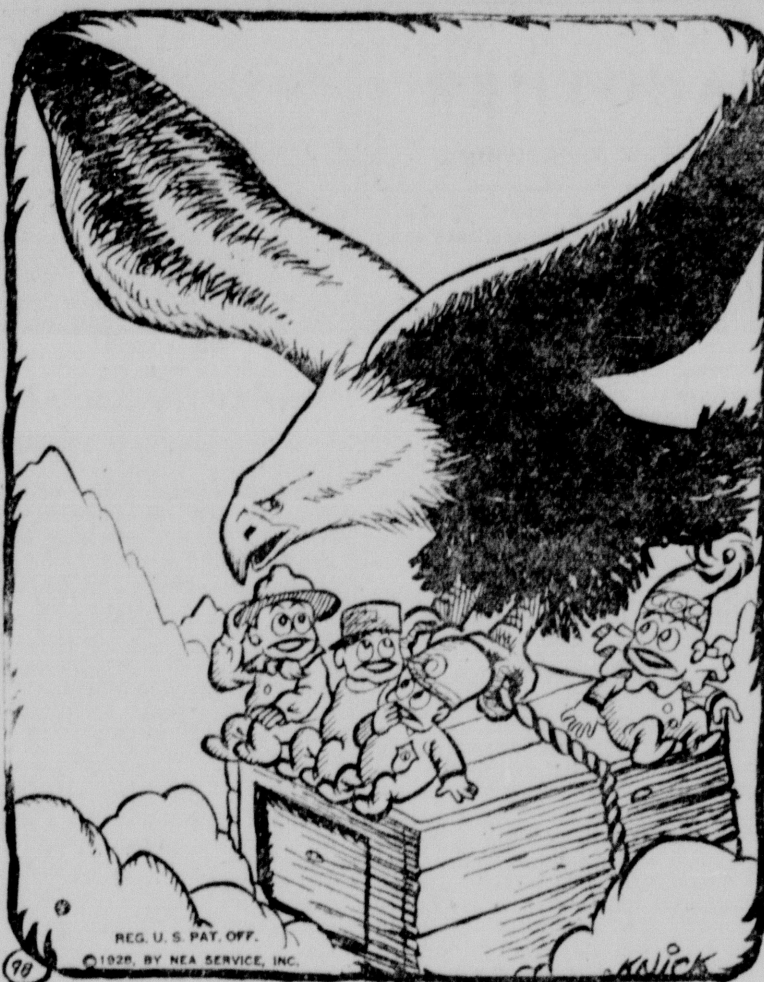

If you broke diet and gained ten pounds, don't complain. The weight of the transgressor is hard.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

"Well, well," said Scouty, "This is great. It seems that I can hardly wait to open up this dandy box. I wonder what we'll find. The guard was kind to give us this. Come on, let's open up the gift. 'Twill surely ease my mind."

So that's just what the Tinymites did. They tried their best to lift the lid, but, shucks, it wouldn't budge an inch. They tried some more, and then wee Copy said, with weary smile, "I think we'd better rest a while until we get our strength back. Then we all will try again."

"A good idea," we Scouty cried, "cause I've small pains all through my side. But, tell me, just where can we sit? The ground is very cold." "To sit in snow I always dread. The box is dry and I am sure that it will safely hold."

And so, their work they quickly stopped, and all jumped right up on the box. "Hurrah!" yelled Carpy Tinymite. "I'm glad it didn't break. This really said we've had no luck. I guess this box top's merely stuck. As soon as we have rested up, another try we'll make."

Just then they heard a flutter near, and everyone looked up in fear. "Oh, look," yelled Scouty. "It's a bird! And, sure enough, it was. A monstrous eagle swooped around, and shortly dove down toward the ground. His big wings kept on flapping till they made an awful buzz."

Of course the Tinymites held their breath, 'cause they were almost scared to death. They watched the eagle zip around, as if in happy play. And then, without a moment's pause, it grabbed the box up in its claws, and with the Tinymites aboard, it promptly sailed away.

(The eagle takes the Tinymites for a ride in the next story.)

SAINT and SINNER

BY ANNE AUSTIN

Faith lapsed again into unconsciousness in the ambulance that took her to the hospital. The last thing she remembered was the feeling of Cherry's hot tears dripping steadily upon her hand. Poor Cherry! She must never know that the sister she had unwillingly wronged had overheard that terrible, all-revealing conversation—

Gradually sick-room muted voices penetrated the fog in which her mind was wandering:

"Don't worry, Miss Lane. She may know you all when she wakes up. Temporary amnesia is not uncommon in cases of nervous collapse."

"But she was so well just day before yesterday!" she heard Cherry protest.

Faith drifted again, was aroused by the almost noiseless opening of a door and by a new voice: "Mr. Hathaway on the phone, Miss Lane."

With her eyes still closed, but consciousness becoming more acute, Faith was aware of Cherry's rushing from the room.

"I'll refill this ice bag, Mr. Pruitt. You'll stay with her?" Faith heard Miss Sutton's crisp voice.

The door closed softly upon the starched rustle. Then a squeak of shoes as George tiptoed to the bed.

"Faith? It's George. Can you speak to me?"

By an immense effort of will Faith forced her eyelids to open. She nodded, and though the gesture was of the slightest, she felt as if she had extended a terrific amount of energy.

"Don't try to talk, honey," George's voice came soothingly. "I understand—everything. You don't want Bob or Cherry to know that you ran away intentionally. I'll tell Bob that you must have been delirious with fever yesterday when I drove you to Darrow, but that I didn't realize it."

Tears welled hotly in Faith's wide-staring eyes. She nodded again, whispered faintly: "Thank you, George."

"It will give you time to think things out. I don't know what's wrong between you and Bob, but whatever it is, it can't be as bad as you think now."

"Worse!" she protested in her almost inaudible whisper. "Does the doctor think I'm going to die, George?"

"Of course not!" George denied. "I want to die," she interrupted him, then closed her eyes and was drifting off into oblivion when Cherry's voice brought her back sharply:

"Bob's coming right over! The poor darling was almost crazy when I told him she didn't recognize us, George. Oh, was she talking to you?"

"Delirium," George answered. "I couldn't make out what she was saying. She still doesn't know me from Adam. We'd better clear out and leave her alone with the nurse. I doubt whether she ought to see Bob yet."

"You couldn't keep him out of here with machine guns!" Cherry cried, bursting into fresh tears.

NEXT: Bob arrives.

At the annual meeting of the Presbyterian church held Wednesday evening, George Luxton was elected an elder; John Maxson, a trustee; and Walter Wilcox, a deacon. The official board is now made up of: Elders—R. C. Brundage, George Rogers, George Luxton, D. W. Taylor, H. C. Downer, Frank King, Dr. C. P. Clarke, C. A. Lang and L. A. Countryman; Trustees—Phil W. May, John Maxson, Mrs. A. A. Phelps, A. M. Zimmerman, John E. Countryman, George Luxton; Deacons—A. T. Guest, H. C. C. wson, Clarence Oakes, Walter Wilcox, Mrs. Ida May, Mrs. A. B. Elmer. H. C. Downer is secretary of finance and Roy Fowler secretary of benevolences. The various organizations of the church were reported as being in good shape with money in the bank and the church is in good condition in the three and one half years of Rev. Frank A. Campbell's pastorate.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

All is vanity and vexation of spirit. —Ecc. 1:14.

There are two things which will make us happy in this life if we attend to them. The first is, never to vex ourselves about what we cannot help and the second, never to vex ourselves about what we can help—Chatfield.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

DEMOCRATS WERE HAPPY AT ANNUAL JACKSON DINNER

Harmony Prevailed in Talks and Letters at Banquet

Washington, Jan. 13—(AP)—With the fires of Jacksonian democracy kindled anew to guide it to power, the democratic party was squared away today for the task of selecting its presidential nominee next June at Houston, Texas.

The picture of a pathway to the White House, illuminated by the principles of Jackson and Jefferson, stands before the party leaders, portrayed to them last night by a parade of contenders for the nomination who voiced pleas for internal accord and a united front for the coming campaign.

All of the prominently mentioned candidates, except Governor Smith of New York, who sent a message, appeared before party leaders who, with the Democratic National Committee partook of a Jackson Day dinner.

The board of directors of the Dixon Country Club met last evening and selected committees for the coming season, as follows:

Greens committee—R. L. Warner, Wilson Dysart, L. G. Rorer.
Men's sports committee—Robert L. Warner, chairman.

House committee—Floyd Chapman, chairman.
Grounds equipment committee—George Burch, chairman.

Membership committee—William J. Albright, chairman.
Ladies sports committee—Mrs. Ed Valle, chairman.

Ladies Executive committee—Mrs. George Hawley, chairman; Mrs. Esther A. Davies, Mrs. Tim Sullivan.

Another meeting of the board of directors will be held within a few days when they will meet with the building committee. At this meeting the plans for the new club house which have been drawn by Architect Max Dunning of Chicago, will be accepted and plans outlined for the beginning of work on the new club house which will be started the first of April.

Teeth are affected by the general condition of the body and therefore the occupation of a person, it is discovered.

Ancient China had other philosophers as powerful as Confucius.

business kept him at home. Read by the former Lieutenant Governor Luna of New York, the message counseled the party to adhere to the principles of Jackson and to apply them in its platform to the problems of the day.

Wild applause shattered the silence that marked the reading of the letter and as the diners rose to their feet William G. McAdoo, Smith's opponent in the 1924 convention deadlock, also stood up, smiling.

Neither Smith nor McAdoo made mention of the Madison Square Garden convention, the latter declaring he was an ex-candidate and forbearing to give the party advice except to urge unity of purpose and action in carrying out the policies of the party's founders.

Jibes for Republicans
Similar counsel came from other speakers, with some of them interspersing jokes at the Republican party. A lighter side was offered by Will Rogers, the comedian, who wisely cracked his way to continuous applause by poking fun at both Democratic and Republican parties and personalities.

Claude G. Bowers, Jackson and Jefferson historian, sounded the keynote of the gathering with a plea for a return to the policies of the party founders. He attacked past and present Republican administrations and asserted that the Democratic party had for an issue "equal rights to all and special privilege to none" if it stood with its founders.

The same sentiment was voiced by Senator Reed of Missouri, Evans Woolen of Indiana, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Representative Garrett of Tennessee, and nearly a score of others.

With a large portrait of Jackson to look upon, the banqueters gathered at the Mayflower Hotel, with Mrs. Woodrow Wilson in the chair as the guest of honor. She sat beside Mr. Davis, who opened the speech making with the injunction that the party pick for its candidates the best brains available and support them to the utmost.

Maroons a Surprise
Chicago, Jan. 13—(AP)—One of the tightest games seen in the Western Conference in many years put Northwestern at the top of the Big Ten basketball race today, the Purple nosing out Chicago 15 to 14.

The Chicago team guarded Northwestern so closely that shots at the hoop were exceedingly rare, and if Chicago had been able to catch in on a few more free throws, the Maroons would have won easily. Six times in a row in the first period, Chicago lost chances to score from the foul line.

Northwestern has won three conference games, without a defeat.

PRESIDENT LEFT TODAY FOR VISIT TO HAVANA, CUBA

Will Address Pan-American Congress There Monday Afternoon

Washington, Jan. 13—(AP)—Promised a week of sunshine and warm weather, President Coolidge looked to the balmy breezes of the south today with everything ready for him to begin his journey to Havana, Cuba, the fourth chief executive to leave American shores while in office.

One of the longest special trains in history of presidential travel waited in Union Station for the start this afternoon of a trip which will take Mr. Coolidge, accompanied by a party of eighty-five, along the Atlantic seaboard through Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia and Florida to the miniature island of Key West. There he will board the battleship Texas for the crossing to the Cuban capital.

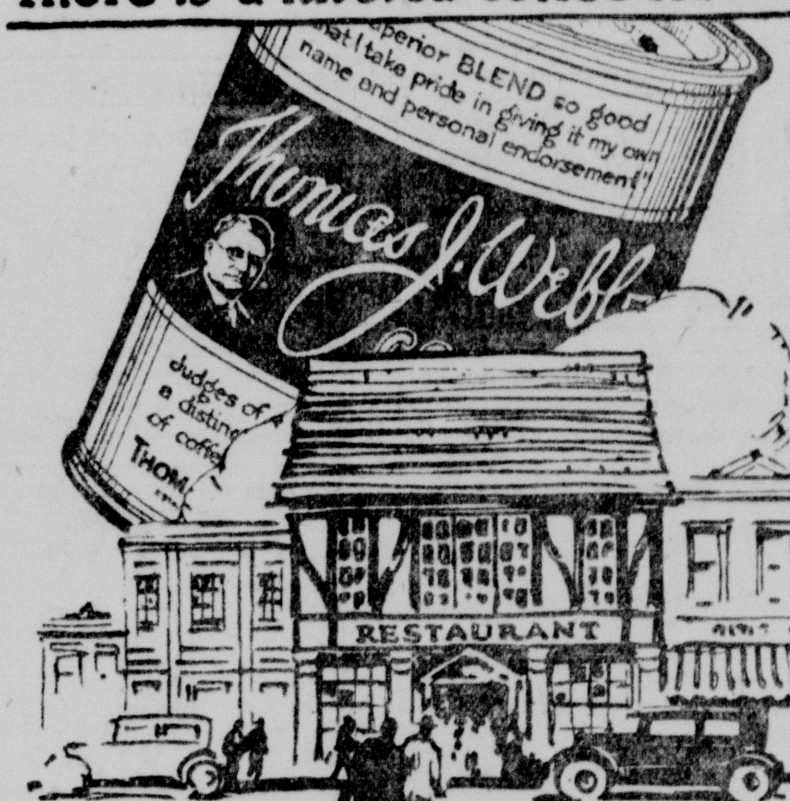

To Broadcast Speech
Carrying a message of friendly feeling from the people of the United States, the President will open the sixth annual Pan-American Congress in Havana Monday with an address that will be heard by the representatives of nearly all of the countries of the western hemisphere comprising the international conference of American states. The President's speech, and that of President Machado of Cuba, will be broadcast over the red and blue chains.

Although a number of operating stops will be made en route to Key West the only formal stop on the way south will be at Miami tomorrow afternoon where the President and his party will detain to make a tour of the city.

Guests of Government
Embarking on the Texas early Sunday morning, the President will cross to Havana in seven hours to be met there by the Cuban executive and a welcoming party of distinguished citizens. He will go directly to the National Palace where he and Mrs. Coolidge will live during their two day visit.

After delivering his address Monday and attending a dinner in his honor in the evening, the President will remain in the palace over night and begin his journey homeward the following morning. On the way north a stop will be made at Jacksonville where another automobile tour of the city has been arranged. The President will be back at his desk Thursday morning.

ANNUAL MEETING DIXON CHRISTIAN CHURCH WAS FINE

Unusually Good Progress Reported by Various Officers

About one hundred members of the Dixon Christian church attended the annual report and fellowship meeting of the congregation Wednesday evening, in which the summaries of the year's work were submitted by twenty-eight of the church's officers and organizations. Orchestra numbers, whistling solos by Miss Olive Palmer, and a trombone solo by A. S. Derr gave variety to the program. At the close, refreshments were served in the church dining room by a committee: Mrs. George Nettz, Mrs. Elvan Allen, Mrs. H. W. Stauffer and Mrs. J. F. Cox.

Chairman Charles W. Johnson and Clerk L. W. Emmert directed the meeting, which was the best the church ever had in almost every particular; especially so in the thoroughness and carefulness of the reports presented. A digest of these showed fifty-five new members added, bringing the total church membership to 801, of whom 70 are non-resident; Bible school average attendance, 185; total money raised through usual channels and for customary purposes, $6,762.66, of which $1,383.37 was for missions and benevolences; special cash received in addition, on the parsonage campaign $2,039.46.

Splendid booster talks were made by H. W. Stauffer, concerning the church's growth and obligations along Prescott, Treasurer of the Parsonage mission lines, and by Geo. F. Fund. The latter expressed his great surprise and joy over the church's liberal response to rather unusual challenges the last few years, and praised the spirit of progress and hearty co-operation that seemed to be developing so happily and vigorously.

The pastor read a list of "Fifteen Pentecost Campaign Objectives," to be attained by the Dixon congregation by Pentecost Sunday, 1930, when the world-wide celebration of the 1900th anniversary of the church's beginning will take place. These enumerated first of all some needed spiritual advances, and general increases of ten percent annually in various phases of regular work. His own annual report showed: Pastoral calls, 251; sermons and addresses, 355; special meetings attended, 137; funerals, 15; weddings, 14; conventions attended, 10; additions to the church, 75, of this number 21 being in work outside Dixon. He stressed the Pentecost Campaign evangelism, and progressiveness in religious co-operation of all kinds, interdenominational and community, as well as within the church fellowship.

The 1928 standing committees for the church were named by Chairman Johnson:

Committees Named
Auditing: Donald D. Stauffer, Arthur Hall.
Building and Grounds: W. C. Stauffer, W. F. Cunningham, Mrs. C. W. Mumma, Mrs. Charles Rice.

Finance: A. S. Derr, Dr. C. E. Smith, Mrs. John Fellows, Florence Nettz.

HARMON NEWS

Harmon—The pupils and teachers of the grades of the Harmon schools gave a farewell party Friday afternoon in honor of Lowell Seago, who is soon to move away from the district. The afternoon was spent in playing games and refreshments consisting of sandwiches, cake, pickles and cocoa were served. He was presented with a gold signet ring in remembrance of all his little schoolmates of Harmon.

John and Mary Lally motored to Dixon the latter part of week on business.

D. D. Leonard was a visitor in Dixon on Friday.

Charlie Hill who was operated on for appendicitis at the Dixon hospital last week, returned to his home here Tuesday afternoon. John Ryan went in after him.

Mrs. Byrnes was a Sunday visitor in Dixon.

Laurence Cramer of Dixon was a caller here Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Dempsey and children of Walton were entertained with supper Tuesday evening at the Leroy Kent home here.

James Scanlon was a business caller in Dixon the fore part of the week. Mr. and Mrs. John J. Blackburn entertained a number of friends and neighbors at their home east of town Monday night. Dancing and card playing were the attractions for the evening, after which a delicious lunch was served. At a late hour they departed for their homes voting Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn royal entertainers.

Harold Fisher of Dixon spent Sunday at the John Farley home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Malach were callers in Dixon Friday.

Mrs. Orville Egler, daughter Miss Lorraine and son Bob of Ottawa are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin McDermott here.

About seventy-five friends and neighbors organized a charivari party Friday night and went to the home of two newly married couples, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lauff, west of town and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Rosen-gren east of Rock Falls.

The party went to the home of the Lauffs' first and afterwards to the Rosen-gren home. At both places the grooms gave the crowd quite a large sum of money. The money was used to buy wienies, buns, pickles, coffee and ice cream Saturday with which the crowd of the night before celebrated at the home of Peter J. Hermes, south of Stone Station. The women in the party brought along cakes for the party also. Music was furnished by members of the party for dancing until a late hour.

Each of the young couples were presented a fine linen tablecloth.

Mrs. Joe Blackburn and children of South Dixon motored here Friday and visited her sister, Mrs. Edward Blackburn and infant babe.

Little Mary Blackburn returned with her for a short visit.

Tommy Long and wife were callers in Dixon Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Laurence Garland and son Jimmy returned here from Erie after having a few days with her mother who is ill.

Rev. Father Moore has gone to Europe to spend several weeks vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jacobs and daughters motored to Amboy Sunday and were entertained at the Benj. Jacobs home.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mannion were business callers in Sterling Tuesday afternoon.

Will Krahov, wife and daughter Miss Elaine were entertained with supper at the Harry Gaskill home here Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nickleson of Amboy and Mrs. Lynn Parker motored to Sandwich to visit Mrs. Sanderson, who is confined to her home.

William Dumphy and Mrs. Brownie motored to Mendota Tuesday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius McKeel motored to Amboy Wednesday afternoon to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Harvey.

James Franks motored here from Sterling Saturday on business.

The stockholders of the Green River Telephone Co. held their annual meeting Saturday afternoon at 1:30 in Ostrander Hall.

The same officers were elected as follows:

A. B. Clatworthy—President.
George Ross—Sec.-Treas.
James Frank—Vice President.
Joe Smallwood—Gen. Manager.
W. H. Kugler, Chairman.

The directors were as follows: Geo. Ross, Joe Smallwood, J. D. McKeel, A. B. Clatworthy, James Frank, Peter Blackburn.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Scully motored to Dixon Friday and transacted business.

The radio in England is emptying the churches in favor of the "pubs," according to a dispatch from the New York Evening Post.

Carbon monoxide is generated from gasoline engines, burning gas stoves, and heaters which, if breathed will cause instant death.

In Honor of Lindy's Flight to Paris

Frank Vittor, Pittsburgh sculptor, has immortalized Lindbergh's flight across the Atlantic in this piece to be cast in bronze. If Congress approves the piece will be erected on Le Bourget field, Paris, where Lindbergh landed. The dominating figure is "winged youth," spanning the Statue of Liberty and Eiffel tower.

CINCINNATI REDS "STAND PATTERS" OF BIG LEAGUES

Hendricks Will Start Same Team He Had Last Season

Cincinnati, Jan. 13—(AP)—Jack Hendricks is expected to introduce his 1927 Reds to the diamond world in April as the "stand-patters" of 1928.

Professing faith in his 1927 crew, Hendricks has faced the player-swaps intended to strengthen his adversaries apparently with unconcern.

Hendricks has made no trades and at present the surface shows no ripples that would disturb a representation of the line-up which closed last season.

Aside from the unsuccessful negotiations for Cuyler when the Pirates walked him on the plank into the welcoming Cubs' camp, Hendricks has had no noteworthy trades under consideration although he has taken in a few rookie recruits for the reserve bench.

Despite its early season flop the 1927 cast demonstrated championship ability in reeling off 650 per cent baseball in the closing three months of last season.

"Big Four" Pitchers.
Luque, Lucas, Kolp and Jablonowski will constitute the "big four" in the hurling shop. The latter, a Waterbury, Conn., recruit, showed prominently in the last of the season.

Pete Donohue is expected to return to form after a bad season due to illness; and Jackie May, who pitches either "very good" or "very bad" is slated for improvement of his weaker nature.

Eppa Rixey may be all but out of the game. Being a veteran in service puts him near retirement and he was weakened this winter by a long illness. Jim Edwards, a Seattle importation, is said to hold promise and two youngsters, Kenneth Ashe of the South Atlantic League, and Alouso Sweeney of Orlando, are new pitching blood Jimmy Beckman, who was graduated from the Cincinnati semi-pro's last season, may get a ticket to the Columbus Association team pitching staff.

Good Outfielders.
Hendricks' main concern is how to arrange an already excellent outfield with two as good or better men on the bench. Bressler, left; Allen, center; Walker, right; and Zitzman, utility, compose the sure-eyed, heavy-hitting regulars.

Straining at the halters is Purdy, whose slugging and sure fielding in the center garden was the sensation of last season's closing Red games. Right behind him is another youngster, Marty Callaghan, formerly of the Cubs and said to be Purdy's equal.

Sukeforth will carry first catcher honors, with Plonch second in command of the plate, while Hargrave and his batting eye will be cast in more of a savior of the day role.

Kelly and Pipp will again alternate on the initial sack. Hughie Critz is on the dotted line for the shortfield with Pittinger in reserve and Dressen undisputably captain of the third bag. R. Emmett McCann, taken from Columbus, will understudy Critz.

CHAPTER XLVI

WHEN he dropped into his favor:

"It's haunt that evening for a quiet game of poker. Tony Harrison found the scar-faced Forbes standing beside the bar. Once more he was assailed with the feeling that somewhere he had encountered that face before, but to save the life of him he could not resurrect the image of a man with slick black hair and a short mustache and goatee. Most men, if they affected mustaches, favored the long, flowing ones with drooping or upturned ends. "And," he told himself, "it can't be the scar. I'd remember that anywhere."

He lingered nearby, that he might study the other's face unobserved; and presently Forbes, as if he felt unseen eyes upon him, turned around.

He smiled. "Have a drink?" he asked.

For a moment Harrison experienced the uncomfortable feeling of having been caught in an act of rudeness. "I don't drink," he answered as pleasantly as he could. "Some time ago I decided to get along without it."

"Most of us would be better off if we felt the same way about it," the man agreed pleasantly. "How about something soft—finger ale?"

Tony hesitated. The man was courteous enough, and yet. . . . "Generally," he said, "I don't permit a stranger to stand treat for me; but I'll break the rule if you let me buy the next one."

Forbes lifted an arm to signal the bartender. After he had given his order he said, "I won't be a stranger much longer. I'm figuring on locating here."

"Going in business?"

"Drug store. I've been looking over the ground to see if it would pay."

"You know we've got one, of course?"

Forbes nodded. "Room for another one—a good one. Thought I'd see how things were going in Oklahoma City, though, before I made up my mind."

"You know," Harrison said boldly, "I've been bothered by the notion that I've seen you before some place. Is that possible?"

"Been to Chicago?"

Tony nodded.

"Well, that's where I'm from," Forbes laughed a little drily. "Folks are not likely to forget this face," and he indicated the scar. "Bullet wound," he explained. "Plowed my cheek considerable, didn't it?"

He shifted impatiently and glanced about him. "Got a poker game on," he explained apologetically and withdrew.

Harrison watched him as he sat down at a nearby table, and frowned. He heard his own name called a moment later and a bit reluctantly walked across the room and dropped into the seat that was reserved for him by his friends.

He played mechanically, with only a half-hearted interest in the cards; and from time to time he found himself staring absently toward the table where sat Forbes.

The man's back was to him, though, and Forbes presented nothing more than a sleek black head and a pair of broad shoulders.

ELDENA

Eldena—A company of 25 friends and relatives assembled at the home of Mrs. G. D. Heimbaugh, Sunday morning to help celebrate her seventy-fourth birthday anniversary, the party being a complete surprise. All came with well filled baskets and at noon a scramble dinner was enjoyed. The afternoon was spent in social chat. Mrs. Heimbaugh received many handsome and useful presents. Those present were: Will Sachs and family, Mrs. Dora Sacks and sister; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Sacks and family; Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Heimbaugh of Ashton; B. B. Brooks and family of Grand Detour, Ed. Nelson, wife and son of Dixon, George McWilliams.

Tony Harrison wondered then how he possibly could have failed to recognize him at first glimpse.

"There's something on your mind, Tony," Fred Perkins laughed as he gathered in a sizable "pot."

"I raised the ante, drew two cards, and you called me with two little pair. That ain't natural for you."

Harrison shrugged and smiled. "Too much business, Fred." To Jenkins, the restaurant owner, he said, "That partner of mine thinks up more things for me to do than I can attend to in working hours and criticizes me when I carry them in my mind at night. All right; deal me a hand—and look out for me I'm out for blood."

He picked up his cards, saw two kings and announced: "She's off," and threw in a chip. Others clinked beside it.

"Everybody stays," said Jenkins, who was dealing. "How many cards, Harrison?"

"Three." When they fell in front of him he slipped them, unlooked at, between his pair of kings and shuffled the five cards face down.

"Now let me peel down, Fred," he began and stopped short.

There were four kings in his hand and an illuminating flash of memory darting through his brain.

He turned quickly in quest of Forbes out the man had left—at least he was not at the table where Tony had last seen him. His eyes roved the crowded room. Not there. Very well—the hotel.

Leaving a winning hand and an unopened stack of chips on the table, he pushed back his chair and darted for the door, his companions too overcome with astonishment for speech.

When he had vanished through the door, Fred Perkins leaned over the table and picked up Tony's cards. "Four kings!" he announced in feeble amazement, and slid back in his chair. "Now, what the hell—" he broke off, to stare weakly at the five cards.

In the street, Tony Harrison was saying to himself, "I knew it—I knew I wasn't wrong. Now, if he's only at the hotel—if he didn't get scared at what I said and light out—"

The way to the hotel led past his own store, which stood just two doors away from the bank. He proceeded at a run, stumbling now and then over a rut, for there were no street lights in Guthrie yet and the sky was overcast and black. The far-off rumble of thunder accompanied him down the street and once he tripped and sprawled his length on the ground, to pick him self up, cursing, and hasten on.

Far off a light shone through the blackness. From the bank, he told himself. It would be Morrison, the cashier, who religiously devoted one night a week to "checking things up." Morrison—what was it Morrison had said about the scar-faced man—that he hadn't inspired him with confidence?

"Morrison's own words," he whispered, and ran on.

His eyes, accustomed better to the darkness now, could discern fairly clearly the gaunt outlines of the hardware store and the frame work of the addition under construction. Perkins and Harrison, a "going" business—and nine years ago. . . .

A jagged flash of lightning rent the sky, limning the makeshift buildings in all their starkness and giving him a brief glimpse of something else. He stopped with such abruptness that his hands sought the ground for balance. It could not have been his imagination, he told himself. Under that brief lightning flash he had seen horses moving outside the little bank, and Morrison, he knew perfectly well, had not ridden any of them.

His amazement gave way to rapid calculation and he stepped quickly toward the dark shadow of the store. It was all very clear now—the scar-faced stranger strolling into the bank from time to time and asking numerous questions under the pretense of an interest in Guthrie's business outlook. . . .

He slipped swiftly and silently from the hardware store to the building next door. Hugging it closely he cut around to the rear and then tiptoed toward the side facing the bank. He could make out three bulky shapes in the darkness and could hear the stamping of horses' feet. Beside them was the faint glow of a cigar or a cigarette.

His mind revolved on various plans of action. Should he lie in wait until the bank robbers emerged and then open fire on them from his place of concealment? A safe course but not to be considered because of the uncertainty of hitting a man in the darkness. No—he would have to get to the bank and surprise them.

He fingered the holster at his hip, drew out the slender-barreled revolver and, dropping to his hands and knees, began a slow and silent progress toward the shapes in the darkness beside the bank.

A horse whinnied nervously and Harrison flattened himself against the ground like a snake. But he was reassured by the sound of a man's voice: "Quiet, you fool!" and presently he began to inch forward again.

From where he now lay he could see the horses quite clearly. There would be no danger of running into them. And the faint glow of the cigaret told him which way his man was facing. Just a few feet more now and—

Then he was on his feet, wrathful like in the darkness. Before the man who held the reins could turn or utter a sound, Harrison had swung the butt of his gun against his skull and grabbed him to ease his fall.

He spoke softly to the horses, then grabbed off the man's hat, peered at his face, felt with his fingers a swelling lump behind the other's ear, and let him lie. There would be, Harrison was satisfied, no signs of life from him for some time.

He felt a fierce exultation within him. Part of his task was accomplished; that for which he had waited and prayed many a day lay just ahead. He spoke once more in a reassuring whisper to the three horses and then turned toward the front of the bank. Two men inside with Morrison, and one of them. . . .

A sudden blaze of passion swept him as he crept toward the lighted window—a savage longing to get that other alone somewhere, to twist his fingers in his throat and hear him plead for his life like a beggar.

The door beside the lighted window, he noted, was closed. Removing his hat, he cautiously raised himself erect and looked over the sill. Morrison sat in a chair beside the safe, and in front of him, with leveled guns, stood two men. From the hands of one a half-filled sack dangled. The other, his eyes slitted with anger, was talking in a low tone. And Tony Harrison wondered then how he possibly could have failed to recognize him at first glimpse.

(To Be Continued)

Don't forget! In the next chapter Tony Harrison comes to grips with the man who killed his father.</

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS SHARKEY FAVORED TO WIN TONIGHT FROM TOM HEENEY

Ex-Gob Pronounced in Tip-Top Condition
by Physicians

New York, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Making his first ring start since being knocked horizontal by Jack Dempsey last summer, Jack Sharkey resumes his heavyweight title pursuit tonight in a 12-round bout against Tom Heene of New Zealand in Madison Square Garden.

The ex-garulous ex-gob from Boston is a favorite although many boxing followers are cautiously withholding opinions. Sharkey is expected to be the choice by 2-1 to 1 when he steps into the arena at 10 o'clock for the prospect of punching his way into a championship affair with Gene Tunney.

Tex Rickard hopes to match the winner against Tunney but he has announced that his decision will depend on the showing of the battlers.

Sharkey Is Fit
Physicians said that Sharkey was in fine condition, even better than when he faced Jim Maloney and Dempsey.

Among Sharkey's accomplishments are victories over Harry Wills, George Godfrey and Maloney.

Heene's record includes two encounters with Paulino Uzcudun, one of which was in the Spaniard's favor while the other was a draw. Both decisions were unpopular. Heene has a victory over Johnny Risko to his credit, however, and Risko conquered Paulino.

Sharkey was matched to fight Heene several weeks ago but the bout was postponed due to an injury to his left hand received in training. That injury has now mended.

In a ten-round semi-final Joe Sekyra, Indianapolis lightweight, meets Yale Okun of New York. In another bout of the same distance, "Sunny" Joe Williams of California will stack up against Lou Bogash of Bridgeport.

With a top price of $22 per ticket, indications were for a capacity crowd of 15,000.

How They Stack Up
The principals compare as follows:

St. Mary's Defeats No. Central Youths

The basket ball game between the North Central and the St. Mary's schools was mighty exciting yesterday afternoon. A large crowd of children packed the new bleachers at the Y. M. C. A. to watch the game. The St. Mary's team being more experienced, won the game from the North Central boys quite decisively by a score of 11 to 2. The Northsiders put up a real game, however, and have shown a remarkable improvement.

The line-up is as follows:
North Central
Pitcher L. F. O'Malley
Miller R. F. Callahan
Knapp C. Burke
Bigger L. G. McCardle
Eiley R. G. Thoman
Wasson R. G. McNamara

Dixon Basketeers to Sterling for Battle

The Dixon Y. M. C. A. basket ball team will go to Sterling this evening where they will compete with Sterling Y team in their gymnasium. The Dixon team is in excellent shape, having already defeated Sterling in a previous game this season. They are anxiously looking forward to this evening's game.

The Sterling Y. M. C. A. volleyball team, composed of business and professional men, will meet the Dixon volleyball team on the local Y. M. C. A. gym floor this evening at 8 o'clock. Spectators are most welcome.

Heydler Satisfied

New York, Jan. 13.—(AP)—No action will be taken by President John A. Heydler of the National League in regard to the trade of Rogers Hornsby to the Boston Braves by the New York Giants. Furthermore, President Heydler declared there was no foundation for reports that the Braves were the "junior varsity" of the Giants.

McGraw IS LASHED TO HELM THROUGH DEAL WITH BOSTON

Trade Removed Another
"Crown Prince" from Giants' Squad

BY ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
New York, Jan. 13.—(AP)—It appears now that if John McGraw has any idea of grooming a successor to himself as manager of the Giants he must look for someone besides a second baseman.

The two keystone workers, who have been picked in recent years as heirs apparent to the McGraw throne both have gone away from here on short notice, a circumstance that lends color to the expert theory that the money interests behind the Giants desire to keep the "Little Napoleon" lashed to the helm. Just four years ago, Frank Frisch, a product of McGraw's developing skill, was publicly picked out as the man upon whom the veteran's mantle would fall. But the "Fordham Flash" developed what McGraw regarded as temperamental tendencies. He was traded to St. Louis in the deal that brought the great Rogers Hornsby to the metropolitan fold as captain and new "logical successor" to McGraw.

Hornsby, in an interview with The Associated Press late last season said: "I would rather work for McGraw than any other man in baseball. I have the utmost respect for his judgment and methods. I think, in return, he has confidence in me. Our ideas run along the same line. McGraw is a fighter. He has forgotten more baseball than I will ever know. It's all business with him. That's what I like. When McGraw issues an order no one questions it. He may be wrong but if he is, he will take the blame."

This was typical of seeming harmony of thought and action between the veteran and his field leader. In view of such a relationship it is difficult for observers to reconcile the deal that sends Hornsby to the Braves, leaving the Giants without a

70 Enter Ski Meet

Chicago, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Three of the leading members of the ski team of the University of Wisconsin sent in their entries today to the Cary, Ill. meet of the Norge Ski Club Saturday, the big winter ski event of this section. These three Badgers helped to carry off the collegiate title in the winter sports carnival at Lake Placid, N. Y., last month.

More than 70 entries have been accepted and 30 others are being considered by the tournament committee.

Mandell to Fight

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Sammy Mandell, lightweight boxing champion of the world, will meet Billy Petrolle, of Duluth known in the ring as the "Fargo Express," in a ten round no-decision contest here tonight.

Mandell is the favorite to win the newspaper decision. The champ's title will not be at stake, even in the event of a knockout, since the men will weigh in at 137 pounds, or two pounds over the lightweight limit.

Both Mandell and Petrolle possess speed and skill, and both are rugged fighters, but the champion is given the edge by sports writers.

Eight Under Par

Long Beach, Cal., Jan. 13.—(AP)—The $2,500 Long Beach open, final milestone on southern California's tournament golfing trail this winter, today attracted a field of some 200 members of the links club for the first 18 holes of qualifying play in the event.

MacDonald Smith, Long Island, N. Y., stylist, fresh from victories in the Palos Verdes and Los Angeles open tournaments, upheld his place as favorite in the Long Beach event with a brilliant practice round yesterday over the municipal course, one of

Pace Makers Ousted

Chicago, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Reggie McNamara and Charley Winter, who had set the pace since Tuesday night in Chicago's 19th six-day bike race at 6 A. M. today found themselves three laps behind Dave Lands and Klaas Van Nek, the Holland-American team.

The iron man of six-day cyclists and his teammate faltered in a "pinch" since taking the lead, they have attempted to hold on doggedly, but their endurance apparently could not last.

Forty-six laps were stolen during the night, bringing the total for the race to 232.

"I Could Cry Over My Skin"

No Need to Say that Now.

If you have tried "everything" for your pimples, blackheads or eczema and want to know what it is to get something that really works—then let your skin know the magic touch of sulphur combined with menthol. Nothing more amazing than how sulphur clears the skin, and as sulphur clears, menthol heals. As combined in Rowles' Mentho Sulphur, the two make an astonishing skin corrective and builder. Pimples dry up overnight. Blackheads and coarse pores vanish in a few days. And as for eczema—even the most burning or itching case soon yields. Relief from the burning or itching follows immediately upon application.

Rowles' Mentho Sulphur is inexpensive and all druggists supply it in jars ready to use. Be sure it's Rowles.
